The Democratic state committee is working every possible arrangement to ccommodate the crowd for the Bryan meeting in this city next Saturday The Exposition building, at the state fair grounds on Fifth South, between Sixth and Seventh East streets, has been secured as the only place in the city offering sufficient seat-ing capacity for a meeting of this

John W. Burton, W. H. Dale, J. R. Letcher and Granville Gillette were appointed a committee early in the week to put the building in proper condition for the meeting. Eight thousand feet of lumber for seats is on the ground, and this, in addition to the chairs that can be secured, will furnish seats for nearly 6,000 people. It is thought that 8,000 people can crowd into the hall. Electric lights are being put in, and the building will be beautifully decorated for this occasion.

Owing to the fact that previous en-gagements will permit Colonel Bryan to stop but one day in Utah, excursion rates will be given on all roads leading into Salt Lake on Saturday, and it is thought that many Democrats from different parts of the state will come in on that occasion to hear the great

"PEWEE'S" PROSPERITY.

How the Postmaster Suffered Under Cleveland.

Postmaster A. L. Thomas' star argument is prosperity. "Look at me," he might be heard to say as he strikes a Macready attitude. "What was my condition under the last Democratic administration, and what is it now? Under Cleveland I was poor and miser-able: now, under Major McKinley, I am in clover, wallowing in the fruits of prosperity. And so it is with you, my fellow chizens; so it is with all of us. Glen Miller and George A. Smith and C. O. Whittemore and Arthur Pratt and the other boys will all tell you the same story. O, my countrymen, when I think of another Democratic victory I shudder for you and your liberties." And then the applause of the fellow citizens can be heard rolling over the HAMMOND SHOULD RESIGN. Campaign Made at the Expense of the State.

Some Republicans are unreasonable. They are asserting that James T. Hammond should resign his office as secre-tary of state, and not make his can-vass for congress at the expense of the state. They argue, too, that if he would do this he would show some confidence in his election, and give his followers a much-needed bracing up. They argue still farther that if he should be defeated for congress, and if it were absolutely necessary for him to live off the public all the time, Governor Wells might appoint him United States senator until something else could be provided.
